Police investigating threats

Bay High students suspended

BY GEOFF BELCHER

Bay St. Louis and Waveland police say no arrests have been made yet, but they're still investigating an incident in which at least four Bay High School students allegedly threatened to cause "serious bodily harm" to two other children at the school.

Bay High's campus looked more like an armed encampment Friday morning when confused parents dropped their kids off for school. Armed police with trained dogs patrolled the area.

The sight had an effect -- approximately 175 students never checked in at school Friday, and nervous parents checked-out about 200 more during the day.

In a press conference Friday morning, authorities including Bay-Waveland School Board President Bryon Griffith, Superintendent Dr. Kim Stasny, board attorney Ronnie Artigues, Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre and Waveland Police Chief James Varnell tried to put parents' fears to rest.

"Last night, the dogs (from several o Police Departments) found absolutely no trace of drugs, gunpowder or explosives," Stasny said. "We brought the dogs in again this morning, and again, everything was clear."

Varnell said his department had received an anonymous call at about 3:30 Thursday afternoon that the four students had made threats, but he would not elaborate due to the sensitive nature of the case. "Specifically, when the investigators questioned the people who were supposedly going to carry out these threats," Artigues said, "it was clear to them that this was not a joke. ... They did make it clear (that the threat) was to take ... potentially dangerous action and cause serious bodily harm to other students."

The four students, all white males including two 14-year-olds, a 15-year-old and a 16-year-old, were remanded to the custody of their parents pending further investigation, Varnell said. All

Three file for Rutherford's at-large post

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Three candidates have filed qualifying papers to run for Bay St. Louis City Council's vacant at-large seat, and other hopefuls are gathering signatures for a race.

With an Oct. 2 filing deadline looming, officials say interest in the vacancy is high.

About two dozen callers have asked municipal officials for details on how to get on the ballot, and 10 sets of blank petitions have been retrieved so far.

City Hall Annex will be open Oct. 2, a Saturday, from 8 a.m. to noon, before the filing period closes. The election is set for Oct. 12.

Deputy Municipal Clerk Charlene Rutledge said Friday three candidates

Stennis funding restored

BY ED LEPOMA

Stennis Space Center officials breathed a sigh of relief this week when a U.S. Senate Committee restored $900 million to NASA's budget.

But, the political maneuvering in the U.S. House of Representatives put local Congressman Gene Taylor in the awkward position of having to explain why he had to support the NASA cut when it was ultimately passed by the House.

Contacted at his Washington office Thursday, Taylor lashed out at "the Republican majority that controls the House," and the "stupid" Republican tactic of lumping NASA's funding with appropriations for the Veterans Administration and for Housing and Urban Development.

Taylor explained, "Everyone knows for years I have fought for more funding for our nation's veterans, especially the World War II veterans, who are now at the age where they need a lot of help."

Taylor said additional funding for the VA has been frozen for the last three years, but the House committee version of the VA/HUD/NASA funding bill

Bay council adopts $12M budget

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis city officials gave final approval Wednesday to a $12.2 million spending plan for the 1999-2000 fiscal year -- and happily agreed to a one-mill decrease in the levy for the Bay Waveland school system.

The only change City Council made in the mayor's proposed budget was decreasing the amount of money earmarked for "other" spending. That's the category council taps during the year for support of outside organizations.

Council's action on Wednesday included setting the tax levy for city taxpayers at 62 mills: five mills for the city, and 57 for the school system.

While the school system sets its own budget, city officials must set the levy to raise the revenue for the system.

The city, meanwhile, collects three mills for the library and two mills dedicated to parks and recreation. None of the local property tax money, city officials stressed, goes to support daily

Landfill plan could face delays, public opposition

BY ED LEPOMA

Harrison County has settled on a landfill site and the firm that will build it, but it could be two to three years down the line, and the proposed site could draw opposition from nearby citizens.

The Board of Directors of the Harrison County of Harrison and Stone Wastewater and Solid Waste District met Thursday, and of the Riceville Community invited to begin the process of amending its 20-year Solid Waste Plan. It had been enter-Pines Landfill, Inc., of Ocean Springs and Mississippi Waste, two firms that offered to site, build and manage the county's future landfill.

On Thursday, the Board selected Southern Pines, which said it has an option on 450 acres of land near the borders of Harrison and Stone Counties. The site is northeast of the Riceville Community and is currently owned by International Paper Co.

the Board it has $10 million available to build the landfill, and has posted a $3.5 million performance bond if it should default on its promise.

Under a tentative agreement, Harrison County would see the price of its garbage disposal reduced as the out-of-county garbage increases at the landfill. However, the service radius is limited to allow only garbage from the Mobile

Seniors can give themselves a 'raise'

Homeowners over the age of 61 are giving themselves a "raise" through participation in the reverse mortgage program designed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The program enables homeowners to turn their home equity into tax-free income while requiring no monthly repayment.

Sounds too good to be true? You can thank the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) for their advocacy of this program since the 1980s.

The FHA-insured reverse mortgage is a special type of home equity loan that allows participants to convert a portion of their locked-up home equity into spendable income while retaining ownership.

The program works much like a traditional mortgage - but in reverse. Rather than making monthly payments to the lender, the lender makes loan distributions to the borrower.

The amount of tax-free income that the homeowner may receive is based primarily on the age of the participants and the home's value. In this program, older homeowners may receive more than their younger counterparts.

No repayment of the loan is required until the home is no longer occupied as the principal residence. Eligibility requirements are quite simple and do not impose any standards based on income, assets, credit or employment.

"The reverse mortgage is a safe, financial alternative enabling older homeowners to comfortably remain in their homes and enjoy a secure retirement," said Jeffrey Moulton of the Reverse Mortgage Department. "Because fixed income levels often prevent older adults from qualifying for standard loans, FHA developed the reverse mortgage program to provide a viable option."

The benefits of this program are numerous. The tax-free cash that is made available can be used for any purpose. Many participants have used the loan proceeds to payoff their existing mortgages, to pay their property taxes, for medical expenses, to payoff credit cards and to make home improvements. Reverse mortgage payments do not affect Social Security or Medicare benefits.

Seniors often worry that the expenses of homeownership will force them to lower their standard of living. This is a choice that most older homeowners simply do not want to make. With the reverse mortgage program many seniors are able to give themselves a "raise" without selling some of their assets.

To learn more, individuals can contact Jeffrey Moulton of the Reverse Mortgage Department at (800) 920-2226.

Conservation Corner

By James L. Cummins, Jr.

Black bears are making a comeback in the lower Mississippi River Valley, due largely to the efforts of state and federal agencies, conservation organizations, universities, timber companies, farmers and other private landowners.

Currently, the Louisiana subspecies of the black bear is listed as a threatened species under the Endangered Species Act. Many groups have united to form the Black Bear Conservation Committee that works to improve the bear's population so that it can be removed from the list.

Because of its low population, seeing a bear in the wild is very rare. Learning more about bears and being aware of their habits should help citizens fully appreciate these unique animals and the habitat in which they live.

Almost all conflicts between bears and humans occur as a result of the animals' search for food. According to Rob Ballinger, a field biologist for Wildlife Mississippi, "Under no circumstances should anyone knowingly feed a bear. Bears will lose their instinctive fear of humans quite easily and often become nuisances as a result. Problems vary from the simple presence of a bear, perceived as dangerous, to actual property damage."

Ballinger recommends that the best way to avoid trouble with bears is to avoid activities that create problem situations.

Preventive measures, such as proper disposal of garbage, should be initiated first. If bears are in the area, efforts should be made to secure all garbage containers or deposit all edible wastes in separate containers that are stored where bears cannot gain access.

In most conflict situations, no one control technique will provide absolute security from bear problems. However, certain measures that are initiated in a timely manner, maintained, properly and applied with an understanding of bear habits and behavior, can greatly reduce any problems associated with bears.

Although bears are generally shy creatures, they are very intelligent and possess excellent long-term memory capabilities.

Bears will continue to return to areas where they have found food. According to Bo Sloan, supervisor for USDA's Wildlife Services in Stoneville, "Problems have occurred when people, fascinated by a bear near their home or workplace, have tossed food out the door so that they can watch or photograph the animal. In these situations, both the humans and the bear quickly lose fear of each other and problems surface."

If you experience any problems with bears, there are several agencies and groups available to assist you. Wildlife

Mississippi and USDA's Wildlife Services Agency are committed to do whatever it takes to avoid human/bear conflicts and to work to resolve any that may develop.

Wildlife Mississippi may be contacted at (662) 686-3375 and Wildlife Services can be contacted at (662) 686-3157.

Murphy loses first round in battle over horses

BY MARY G. SKILEY

Quoting Shakespeare, Chancery Court Judge Wes Teel has ordered Ray Murphy to move a pack of horses from Union Street within 30 days—but don't look for an empty stable just yet.

Attorney Harold Grissom said he would ask Teel this week to reconsider his ruling. That failing, Grissom said he would appeal immediately to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

Teel's ruling comes in a case which was filed by Murphy in May 1998 against the city of Bay St. Louis, which had issued Murphy a license for his horse business at 300 Union Street. In the face of complaints from adjoining property owners, however, the city ordered Murphy to remove the livestock.

Murphy claimed he was denied due process of law, and given no chance to make his case to stay put. Relying on the city's permit, Murphy spent up to $10,000 to prepare the lot for the horse stable and a carriage business on property zoned for light industrial usage.

When citizens abutting the lot complained, however, Bay St. Louis relied on provisions in a municipal ordinance which states that such objections to livestock in the city automatically require the city to order the animals removed. The judge said the city ordinance is and constitutional and the city acted within the rights of a municipality.

There were some elements of humor in Teel's write-up of the case. Setting the tone of the judgment, for instance, the judge invoked Shakespeare's Richard III: "A horse! A horse! My kingdom for a horse!" He did not elaborate on that citation.

Later in his ruling, Teel said the testimony included what is possibly a "first" in Chancery Court: testimony by a "manure expert." (Dr. Swan Ward qualified as an expert in the case. An internist Ward said in 35 years of practice, he knew of no parasite transferable from horse to man, including any from horse feces.)

Still, several neighbors of Murphy's property complained in court of odors and flies coming from the enterprise. "Most stated they cannot enjoy going outdoors because of the smell. Additionally, the smell sometimes permeates into their houses," Teel wrote.

City officials conceded that there is livestock in other areas of the city, including horses and goats in residential areas. But building officials say they don't take action against the livestock and animals, unless complaints arise.

While ruling in the city's favor, and ordering Murphy to pay court costs and attorneys fees, Teel appeared to have some sympathy with Murphy's arguments.

"Is the result fair? Making improvements to property and expending at least $10,000 doing so, and then finding out you can not use the property for the purpose licensed, is incredibly harsh and is an economic hardship for Mr. Murphy," Teel said. "The court would have hoped the Plaintiff (Murphy) could have come to some sort of workable understanding with his neighbors, and avoided the complaint to the city..."

"There is nothing inherently wrong or sinister about having a carriage business operate in a city," the judge added. Many cities have such businesses and they delight tourists, enthrall little children, and provide a unique perspective on a downtown urban area. Indeed, the history of civilization is entwined with man's employment of the horse as a helpmate and servant."

Still, said Teel, residents near Murphy's property have rights as well. "They have the right to the peaceful enjoyment of their homes and property. Just as beauty is in the eye of the beholder, one man's 'fertilizer stack' is another man's 'pile of manure'," the judge wrote.

Mayor Eddie Favre notified City Council members of the ruling in a Wednesday meeting, and speculated that Murphy would not appeal the case. Murphy referred questions in the case to Grissom, who commented only that a request for reconsideration, and possible appeal to the Supreme Court, would be made.

Rapes bring life term

BY ED LEPOMA

Circuit Court Judge Kosta Vlahos this week sentenced a Hancock County man to life in prison for the repeated rapes of teen-age girl over a three-year period.

Joseph "Rusty" Greer, 34, was found guilty of capital rape by a Circuit Court jury that deliberated only 30 minutes last June. Capital rape is a legal term for sexual intercourse with someone under age 14.

At the trial, the victim, now 17, testified that the rapes began in May of 1995 when she was 13 and Greer was 30, and occurred repeatedly. On her 16th birthday, the girl said she got the courage to tell her mother.

The girl's mother and sheriff's department's investigator were the only witnesses for the state during the two-day trial in June.

Greer did not testify in his own defense, but during the trial, jurors heard his taped confession in which Greer said he was sorry and hoped the girl would forgive him.

Vlahos agreed to a review a pre-sentencing report and could have given Greer a sentence that ranged from 20 years to life. Instead, Vlahos chose the harsher penalty of life in prison.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

As many of you know, one of my pet complaints in my column over the years has been about "one-eyed" vehicles on our highways and roadways.

It is interesting to find out that this is not the first time for a publisher of The Echo to write about such a problem in our area.

In doing some research for the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club which will celebrate its 75th anniversary next year, I came across an interesting article in the September 6, 1924, edition of The Sea Coast Echo.

Headline, 'ON THE LOOK-OUT FOR "ONE-EYED" CARS

"Chief of Police Albert Jones (of Bay St. Louis) informs The Echo that he and his deputies are on the sharp lookout for 'one-eyed' autos by night; have been all summer and find it one of the most trying jobs of the office.

"In the future there will be less warning and calling attention to the delinquency, but that affidavits will be made out against the violators without further notice."

In all probability Chief Jones would have the same comments 75 years later, if he were around.

It always surprises me how some things appear never to change.

Just think, 75 years later and we still have the "one-eyed" vehicles to contend with on our highways and roadways.

I do have to now say that in recent months the numbers of "one-eyed" vehicles appear to have been reduced dramatically in our area.

I have been told that history seems to be repeated.

There are still some around who attended the Town of Waveland's Elementary School located on Coleman at Railroad Avenue (Central).

It has been many years since the facility was used as a school, but now great things are in the air for the restoration of the old school building and grounds.

A grant has been received by Waveland for the building's renovations while city resident Nancy Artigues is spearheading a group to raise money for the renovation of the park.

This project includes the purchase of new, safe playground equipment for children -- even those in wheelchairs.

I know Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo and city aldermen are anxious to have this work completed for our youth of the city. Mayor Longo has been working towards the building, grounds and park's renovations for many years and now everything appears to be in place to have the project completed.

This is a great project for the city of Waveland and one that will be cherished by its citizens for many years to come.

Waveland has designated initial funds and labor to renovate the park, but it is anticipated that the complete renovation will cost approximately $35,000.

Mrs. Gex has been designated by Waveland to raise funds for the Coleman Avenue Project.

The old Waveland School was a landmark for the town, and even though I did not attend the school as a youngster, it was a playground for myself, brothers and friends.

Waveland has designated a special fund for the project and if you can help, it will really be appreciated.

Send contributions to "City of Waveland", c/o Nancy Artigues, 111 Seabrook Drive, Waveland, MS 39576.

Remember, our youth of today are our leaders of tomorrow.

Hurricane Floyd has played havoc along the United States Eastern Coast over the past week.

There are not too many hurricanes that reach the New England States, yet it does happen on occasion.

Of course, that area has other worries caused by nature, such as ice storms.

I can recall a hurricane in September 1954, when I was in the process of being transferred from Fort Devens, Mass. and the amount of damages from about a 75-80 mile per hour wind in the Boston area.

We were scheduled to leave the Boston Airport early on the morning of the hurricane and our flight was delayed because of water on the airfield, and we did not leave Boston until late in the evening.

That morning we left Fort Devens in two military buses, as we were en route to Camp Gordon, Ga., after processing at Devens for further military schooling.

There were lots and lots of trees toppled, signs, carparks and we even passed a large church steeple on the ground. We were told that it was the Old North Church's steeple which was mentioned in Paul Rivere's Midnight Ride, but that was never confirmed.

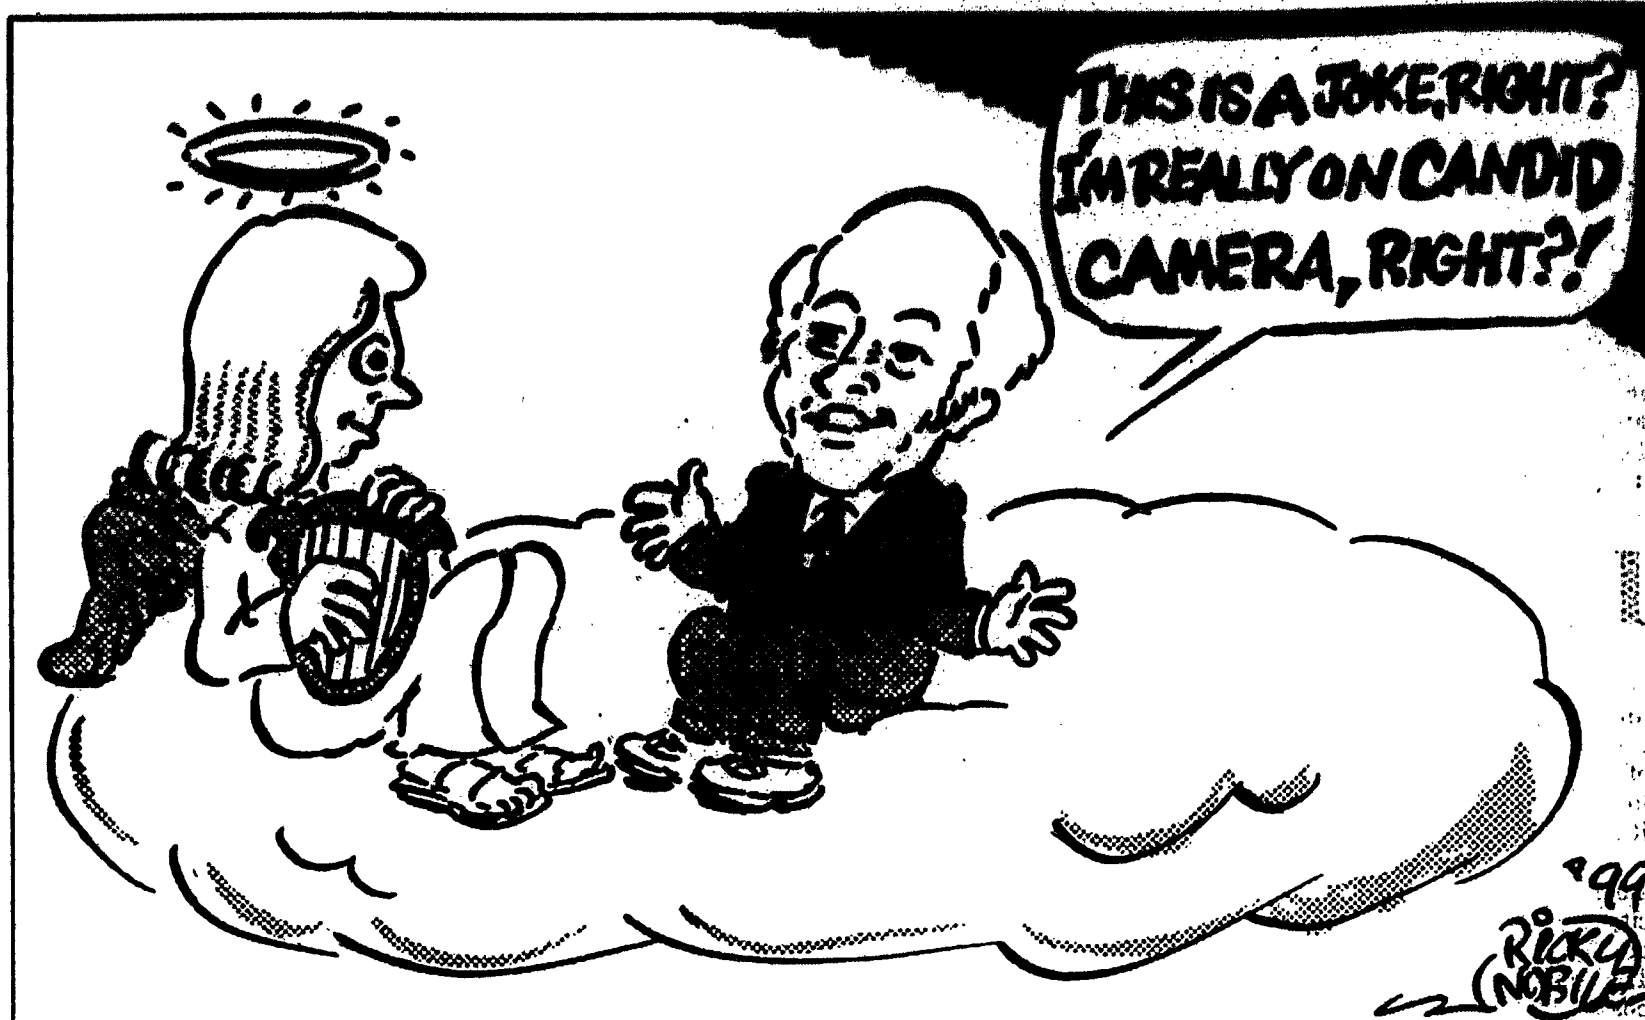

Having experienced hurricanes in Waveland, especially the one in 1947, the one in New England was almost like one of these spring storms we get here.

Today, too, we have to take into consideration the big increase in the numbers of inhabitants of our Eastern Coast which has grown like we have along the coastline of the Gulf of Mexico.

What appears to have been one of the big problems caused by Floyd has been the heavy rain falls which have caused extensive flooding across a large portion of the Eastern coast.

We are now about in the middle of hurricane season for this year and those of us living along a coastline have to keep our guard up in case one decides to head our way.

Our weather forecasters are doing a much better job in their predictions of the routes of the hurricanes, and this is good. They realize that nature is uncontrollable and we need to be prepared in case a storm comes our way.

Retirement home funding update

Pentagon officials are reportedly considering an increase that would double the mandatory 50-cent contribution that enlisted members and warrant officers currently make to the Armed Forces Retirement Home monthly.

Currently, Army retirees lead the support of the two Armed Forces Retirement Homes (AFRH).

One home is in Gulfport and the other is in Washington, DC. More than 2,100 Army retirees have set up allotments from their retired pay to support the U.S. Soldiers' and Airmen's Home in Washington, DC and the U.S. Naval Home in Gulfport.

Voluntary retiree allotments have amounted to $116,500 for the retirement homes.

Fully 80 percent of this amount has been contributed by service members donations from the Army. The next highest number of retiree contributors came from the Air Force with 238 people making allotments.

An increase in funding is required in order to prevent bankruptcy or foreclosure. Unless revenue sources are better refunded, the AFRHs could both become insolvent by 2004.

A larger payroll deduction was authorized by Congress in 1995, but the Navy specifically resisted the change. The new increase being proposed would cover about two-thirds of the existing shortage in operating budgetary funding.

The two facilities combined lose about $8 million to $12 million annually. The two retirement homes are the only veterans' homes run by the federal government.

These homes provide housing to a range of veterans meeting certain qualifications. The requirements include veterans who are:

1. retirees age 60 and older with 20 or more years of active duty;
2. veterans unable to earn a livelihood due to a service-connected disability;
3. veterans who served in a war theater or received hostile fire pay and are unable to earn a livelihood due to a non-service-connected disability;
4. female veterans who served before 1948.

Almost 1,600 veterans live in the retirement homes -- 93 percent are military retirees and 97 percent are combat veterans. The veterans' homes are looking to retirees for funding because downsizing has resulted in a decrease in support from active-duty service members.

Since 1990, active-duty funding from the 50-cents-a-month in pay withholding per service member and fines and forfeitures -- has dropped 39.1 percent, equating to $142 million.

For more information on how to support the homes or to find out more about them, write to: Armed Forces Retirement Home, 3700 N. Capitol Street, Washington, DC 20317.

Taylor announces three grants for DMR/USM

U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor announced recently that the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) and the University of Southern Mississippi have received three National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) grants totaling over $1.5 million.

NOAA, a bureau of the Department of Commerce, awarded $1 million to DMR for a fishery disaster relief program. The project has several objectives, including providing for the monitoring sites to determine how environmental conditions affect brown shrimp survival and distribution. The grant will also allow DMR to provide important data for juvenile shrimp.

Additionally, DMR will receive $150,000 to support operations projects at the Grand Bay NERR that will stress implementation of the reserve management plan. In addition to core staff, education, outreach and site profile development, funding from the grant will go towards supply needs, equipment purchases and repairs.

Taylor said the University of Southern Mississippi's grant is for $433,887. The program will allow USM and NOAA's Coastal Services Center to conduct the training and education of future coastal managers through a fellowship program.

One hundred days to Y2K nears

By Janita R. Stewart,
District Director
Mississippi District Office,
U.S. Small Business Administration
Wednesday, Sept. 22 marks the 100-day countdown until the year 2000 -- "Y2K."

America's banks, utility companies and big businesses are mostly prepared for the Y2K rollover and its possible problems. But John Koskinen, chairman of the President's Council on Year 2000 Conversion, recently said small businesses -- the backbone of our nation's economy -- are not well prepared for Y2K.

According to the National Federation of Independent Business, only one in four small business owners consider Y2K a serious problem. Those statistics further indicate that at least 30 percent of small businesses have done nothing about the Y2K problem.

Some mistakenly believe only companies with mainframe computer systems will experience serious problems. All companies should check their computer hardware and software for Y2K compliance.

But computers aren't the only potential problem areas. Any technology using date information has a potential Y2K problem.

Accounting software and e-mail programs are obvious problem areas, but date-coded embedded processors are also in FAX machines, copiers, climate-control units, security systems, communications equipment, and time-lock safes among other appliances.

Their failure could adversely impact a small business.

There is still time to become Y2K ready. Here are the basic steps that small business can take to prepare for Y2K.

• Project Management

This can be as simple as placing a memo in the company file stating your business' intent to prepare in good faith for the Y2K rollover. Proving due diligence if your business becomes involved in a Y2K-related lawsuit is easier with a project memo.

• Awareness

Talk about the complexity and depth of the Y2K problem to your management and staff. The problem is not unique to your business. Increasing awareness will make it easier to minimize potential problems.

• Impact Analysis

Analyze your inventory list for problems to determine which systems are most likely to fail. This helps you organize which systems to fix first. You can also use the impact analysis for contingency planning case systems fail regardless of your efforts.

• Remediation

Once you've determined which systems need repairs first, you can begin to retire, replace, or renovate them.

• Testing

A system is not Y2K ready until it has been tested. Tests can include rollover, reboot day of the week, date windowing, audit logs, reports, input data, output data, manual date set, display data, and timer functions.

• Documentation

This shows customers you practice diligence regarding Y2K. It also can provide some measure of defense in a lawsuit, and can help quickly solve problems and implement contingency plans.

• Contingency Planning

A contingency plan outlines steps and actions to take if a Y2K problem occurs. Most contingency planning focuses on areas you can't control, such as loss of electricity. A contingency plan keeps your core business functions going, regardless of any glitches.

The best way to prepare for Y2K is to think in the terms of a natural disaster. If you had 100 days to prepare for a natural disaster, what would you do to ensure your business survived and continued to operate with minimal interruption? Following the above steps, you can make sure your business is "Y2K OK."

For information on ways to prepare for Y2K, check the U.S. Small Business Administration's Y2K Web site at www.sba.gov/y2k. This comprehensive site deals with business-related Y2K issues and contains links to public and private-sector Y2K Web sites.

Assistance is also available through the National Y2K Help Center for Business at (800) Y2K-7557.

LeBlanc announces for council position

William "Bill" LeBlanc has announced his candidacy in the special election to fill the Bay St. Louis Councilman-at-Large position. The election is scheduled for October 12 to fill the expired term of the late Jimmy Rutherford.

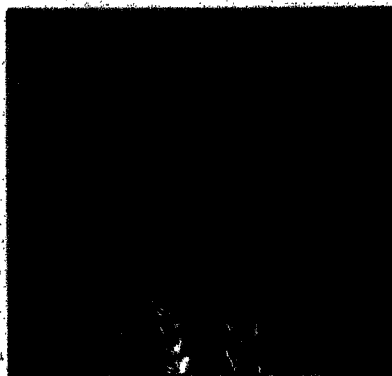

LeBlanc, 56, is a long time resident of the Bay/Waveland area. He is employed with Lockheed Martin Corporation as Chief of Manufacturing Engineering and has been in the aerospace industry for the past 30 years in a supervisory/management capacity.

LeBlanc is married to the former Kathleen McGinley of Bay St. Louis and is a member of the Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. He has served in many leadership capacities in the community, including chairing the OLG Crab Festival for several years. He also served as chairman of the Building Committee for the OLG Parish Community Center. He holds a State of Mississippi Residential Building Contractors License.

LeBlanc stated, "In having big shoes to fill, with the citizen's support, I am looking forward to working closely with the mayor and other councilpersons to represent the people of Bay St. Louis. I've always enjoyed community involvement, and being your councilman gives me another opportunity to serve."

Dutton announces for Bay Council

Peggy Lamb Dutton has announced her candidacy for councilman-at-large for the City of Bay St. Louis, the position formerly held by the late Jimmy Rutherford.

This seat on the council is elected by voters of the entire city and represents the citizens of all four of the city's wards. The special election to fill the position will be held Oct. 12.

Dutton, a teacher, practicing attorney and long-time volunteer in civic affairs, serves as chairman of the Bay St. Louis Community Association, member of the Advisory Council of City County Community Education, and chairman of the Legal Affairs Subcommittee of the Department of Marine Resources' Comprehensive Resource Management Planning Team.

In the past, she has served as president of the Bay St. Louis Association of Educators, board member and secretary of the Hancock County Human Resource Council, member of the Bay St. Louis Democratic Municipal Executive Committee, member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Education Committee and board member of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

A graduate of St. Joseph Academy in Bay St. Louis, Dutton earned a master's degree in education from the University of Southern Mississippi. In 1997, she graduated, cum laude, from the University of Mississippi School of Law.

An educator for 25 years, including 10 years in the Bay St. Louis School District, Dutton is a strong advocate for better public schools.

Her many years of active volunteerism in civic affairs coupled with almost a decade of attendance and participation in City Council meetings have given her first hand knowledge of the problems facing the entire community, and convinced her of the need for sound city planning and zoning.

"Thanks to good planning and citizens who care, Bay St. Louis has been very fortunate," Dutton said. "We have gained a lot from economic development without losing our small-town character."

"But we can't rest there - we must keep the momentum going. We need to attract new and different kinds of businesses so that all our economic eggs are not in the same basket."

"We need to ensure that development is sustainable and compatible with the character of the city. We must carefully protect and nurture the things we love about this city and keep Bay St. Louis a great place to raise a family.

"I have the qualifications to help find solutions to these challenges and the commitment to carry them out."

Taylor announces for Bay Council

William E. "Bill" Taylor announces his candidacy for councilman-at-large for the City of Bay St. Louis. A special election will be held Oct. 12.

Taylor is a 1954 graduate of Bay High School. He served three and one-half years in the Air Force from 1954-1957.

He worked as a computer programmer for the federal government for 38 years and retired from the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office at Stennis Space Center in January, 1995.

Taylor said, "From my past work experience and my voluntary involvement with veterans' organizations in the community I have the ability to work in a cooperative manner with other people and to make responsible, conscientious decisions."

"Being retired gives the constituents access to me at any time during the day and allows me to serve as a full-time councilman.

"I believe this will make me an asset to the current administration and to the citizens of Bay St. Louis."

Stennis signs exclusive license for commercialization of fiber optic transceiver

NASA's need for more accurate way to collect data from propulsion tests has led to an exclusive license agreement for a small New Orleans company, Omni Technologies, Inc. to market the solution.

As NASA's lead center for rocket propulsion testing, Stennis Space Center has always needed a way to collect accurate data from the inherent hostile environment of rocket engine tests. Until now, remote recording of high-speed digital data has been impossible due to a number of technological constraints.

To help solve the problem, Stennis and Omni have developed a cost-effective fiber-optic transceiver that allows accurate digital recordings over a greater distance.

"Stennis needed a method to extend transmission distance," said Joey Kirkpatrick, a NASA engineer at Stennis and co-developer of the fiber-optic transceiver, now named FOTR-125.

"By converting the existing copper communications interface to fiber optics, we were able to provide a solution. Omni was selected for this effort because of their depth of experience and expertise with similar fiber optic applications.

"Omni Technologies personnel have been involved in fiber optics technology for more than 20 years," said Francis Grosz, an Omni spokesman. "This particular transceiver was built especially for NASA to meet their needs. It is a specialized version of similar technologies that have been in existence for about 10 years."

Through the NASA Technology Transfer Office at Stennis, Omni was granted the exclusive license to commercialize the FOTR-125.

Omni plans to market the FOTR-125 to other facilities that perform extremely hazardous testing, such as explosives, nuclear, rocket engines and some combustion turbine engines.

Currently, NASA is using the transceiver in Stennis' High-Speed Data Acquisition System. The use of the transceivers in the data acquisition system provides a more reliable, capable and flexible high-frequency data system than previously achievable. It is also more compact and portable than existing systems.

"These transceivers are a key component in our data acquisition and have proven to be an extremely reliable and robust solution," Kirkpatrick said. "This technology has allowed us to provide a high-speed data capability that is truly state-of-the-art."

Tiger defense takes sting out of Hornet attack

BY MAURICE SINGLETON

Bay High's defense had to overcome a vicious Poplarville ground assault on Friday night to give the offense opportunities in the Tigers' 25-8 win over the visiting Hornets.

The Hornets basically ran two plays all night, handing off to three 200-pound Hornets running backs who seemed to pick up yardage at will in the first half. But the Tigers made the right adjustments at halftime, bringing the linebackers up to the line, filling the rushing lanes that were all Hornets in the first half.

"We changed our defensive scheme at halftime from a 4-3 to a 6-1," Tigers' Coach David Baughman explained. "It really helped us. They were killing us with those two plays."

"The big key to the game was that we scored before the end of the first half."

The Tigers were down 8-6 after a sixteen-yard touchdown run by Daniel Norris and a successful two-point conversion pass play. With 1:10 remaining before halftime the Tigers drove eighty yards in just fifty-two seconds, capping the drive with a thirteen-yard pass to Ronald Brown in the end zone.

The men's team downed the Wolves 6-1 while the women earned their first victory as a team with a 10-0 shutout. The game was also the South Division opener for both teams.

Jeff Rose of Bay St. Louis scored three goals in the game to lead PRCC. Nick Caldwell, also of Bay St. Louis, added one goal in the win.

On the women's side, Amanda Kingston of Bay St. Louis led the Lady Wildcats with three goals. Lindsey Piazza of Waveland added a goal in the school's first win.

The men improve to 2-1-1 overall and 1-0 in division play. The women up their record to 1-2-1 overall and 1-0 in division play.

OLA downs Indians

Our Lady Academy defeated the Lady Indians at Biloxi, 15-5 and 15-7, in district volleyball Thursday night.

Julie Reboul was high scorer for the Crescents with eight points, followed by Megan Pigott and Jill Rutherford with seven each.

The team is 9-2 overall and 7-2 in district action.

In the junior varsity game,

The two-point conversion pass by Ty Barrett was incomplete, but the Tigers took the lead and never relinquished it.

The Tigers defense held the visitors to a single first down on their first possession of the second half as Willie Whavers, Adam Barrett, Kevin Khadaroo, Michael Simpkins, Tony Davis and a host of Tigers closed the Hornets' rushing lanes and penetrated the gaps.

The Tigers' offense showed their appreciation by putting together a sustained drive that started at their own forty-four yard line and ended with a twenty-eight yard Ty Barrett quarterback keeper, increasing the Tigers lead to 18-8 with 6:42 showing in the third quarter.

On the ensuing series the Tigers' defense again held the visitors to a single first down; and again, the Tigers' offense said "thank you" with a score. Starting at the visitors' forty-five yard line, Ty Barrett moved the Tigers fifty-five yards with runs by Jason McKay and Aaron Frommeyer, a nine-yard pass completion to Gary Vincent and a five-yard touchdown pass to Brown. Timmy Wright closed out the Tigers' scoring with a successful point after boot that was fifteen yards longer because of an unsportsman-like conduct penalty.

The Tigers first score on the night was a fifty-eight yard pass play from Ty Barrett to his younger brother Adam. The younger Barrett snatched the descending spiral thirty yards in flight and outran two defenders for the score.

"That was a naked bootleg," Coach Baughman explained. "That was a great call by Coach (Tommy) Spillman."

"We played a pretty solid football game tonight," Coach Baughman added. "We are converting third downs. That's basically the difference between this year and last year. We played four quarters. I wasn't really pleased with our play in the second quarter, but we made the right adjustments."

"Individual performances, I think Terrace Thomas and Willie Whavers had great games tonight. Tony Davis also played a great game. And Ty had his

Hawks ride Greyhounds 21-0

BY DWAYNE BREMER

The Hancock Hawks got on the bus and rode the Ocean Springs Greyhounds to a 21-0 victory Friday night.

With defensive starter Vincent Hunt out with an injury, the Hawks played inspired defense, yielding only 144 yards to the Greyhounds. "The defense really came through for us tonight, they played their best game of the year" said head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Greyhounds took the opening kickoff, and picked up three first downs moving the ball to the Hawk 49. The Hawks defense then came up with the first big play of the game, as Oren Lewis made a big hit on Greyhound back Idris Shabazz, and recovering a fumble at the 40.

The Hawks would move the ball inside the Greyhound 20, with runs by Chris Goff, and Trellony Mayfield. The drive was short lived, however, as Goff was stripped of the ball, and the Greyhounds recovered at the 13.

The Hawk defense would force a punt, and the Hawks would set up at the Greyhound 44.

On the first play, Chris "big train" Payne took a hand off and broke free into the secondary, Payne then cut back at the 20-yard line, and went the distance for a Hawk touchdown. The point after was no good, and with 5:30 remaining in the first half the Hawks had a 6-0 lead.

The Hawks forced another punt, on the next possession, and the Hawks took over at the 43. Trellony Matfield ran for nine yards, and Payne gained six more for a first down. After a holding penalty, Chris Goff got the call, and rumbled 34 yards for a first down to the Greyhound 17. The offense would then sputter, as Payne fumbled and the Greyhounds recovered at the three yardline.

The Hawk defense would get the ball right back, as Roger Petticrew made a big hit on Greyhound receiver Brad Grayson, stopping him one yard short of a first down. The Greyhounds were forced to punt out of their endzone, and the Hawks ended up with great field position at the Greyhound 31.

The Hawks would take advantage, as Brandon Necaice passed to Goff for 11 yards and a first down. Mayfield gained three yards, and Goff ran for nine more giving the Hawks first and goal at the 8-yardline. A holding penalty set the Hawks back, but on third down Necaice floated a pass that Goff hauled in at the three, and backed into the endzone for a Hawk touchdown.

The Hawks would attempt a two point conversion, and Necaice called his own number on an option play, diving into the endzone to give the Hawks a 14-0 lead with 7:08 remaining in the half.

The Greyhounds would move the ball inside the Hawk 30 before the half ended, but they missed a 45 yard field goal attempt as time ran out, and the Hawks took a 14-0 lead into the half.

The Hawks would take the second half kickoff, but were forced to punt from their own 37. On the punt, a Greyhound had the ball bounce off his leg at the 30-yardline. Hawk lineman Jake Wilson gobbled the ball up at the 33, and rumbled into the endzone for an apparent Hawk touchdown. On a mysterious call, the officials gave the ball back to the Greyhounds at the 30, and took away Wilson's touchdown.

The Greyhounds were unable to score on their drive, as the Hawk defense stopped the Greyhounds on downs, at the Hawk 30. The Hawks took over with 4:23 remaining in the third.

The Hawks would not pick up a first down, and be forced to punt.

The Greyhounds took over at the 48, and began to move the ball. Marcus Battle hit Grayson for 11 yards, and a personal foul gave the Greyhounds a first down at the Hawk 22. The Hawk defense then stiffened, stopping three straight passes, and forcing the Greyhounds into a 40-yard field goal attempt. The kick was no good, and the Hawks took over with :42 seconds remaining in the third.

After the two teams traded punts, the Hawks took over at their own 25 with 8:23 remaining.

Goff picked up 15 yards, and a first down. Mayfield gained three, and Payne collected nine more for a first down at the 48. A holding penalty set the Hawks 10 yards to the 42. Coach Gaudin then reached into his bag of tricks, pulling out a half-back pass.

On the play Goff took the pitch, and launched a bomb that was hauled in by Doyle Moran at the Grayhound 17. The play netted 40 yards. "I just felt it was the right time for a big play, they never expected it" said Gaudin.

The Hawks would hit paydirt three plays later as Goff strolled in from three yards out. Les Sackett added the point after, and with 3:21 remaining the Hawks had a commanding 21-0 lead.

The score would hold up, as the Greyhounds missed a 50 yard field goal with :29 seconds remaining, and the Hawks earned their second victory of the season.

"I thought we played really well tonight, and gave a full effort. We started out slow but made some big plays. Hopefully we are ready for our district season" Gaudin added.

The Hawks racked up over 230 yards in rushing for the game, Goff lead the way with 91 yards on 12 carries, Payne added 87 yards on 11 carries, and Mayfield picked up 49 yards.

"We knew we had to come in and step it up with one of our starters out. The whole defense played a good game, and we worked really played our hearts out" said defense star Oren Lewis.

The Hawks will travel "between the walls" next week to play their first district game, against high powered, and undefeated St. Stanislaus.

Beat d'Iberville

Cannon & Santiago set Rock marks

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws moved to 4-0 on the season with a 28-17 win over the visiting d'Iberville Warriors in Friday night high school football action. In the contest, junior running back Kris Cannon and junior quarterback Jason Santiago set career records for the Rock-a-chaws. The Rock defense, led by Cameron Byrne, Hunter Dawkins, Joseph Bruno, and Matt Frost, held the Warriors' potent rushing attack to just 99 yards for the game and just 171 yards for total offense. The win marks the best start for a Rock team since the 1991 season.

The St. Stanislaus offensive line of Neil Favre, Hunter Dawkins, John Ellis, Willie Golden, Travis Fuchic, Ashley Piazza, and Stephen Peterman were praised by Cannon, Santiago and Dave Kenson for the pass protection and run blocking in the win.

Cannon stated, "It feels good to mentioned ahead of such a great SSC running back like Corey Charles. Now, I just have to find a way to tell him that I broke his record. But, the real reason that I have been running so well is because of my offensive line. They really work hard because they know what needs to be done. I just run behind them. Next week, the game against Hancock will be much tougher. We will have to work so much more next week and not make the mistakes that we made last night."

Senior offensive guard Travis Fuchic commented on Cannon's record, "I feel honored to have blocked for such a great running back like Kris Cannon. But all the credit for the line goes to Coach Mike Stumpf. He came in and took over the line and taught us many new techniques and drills to help with pass and run blocking. Coach Stumpf has helped us in our progress and I wouldn't want to block for anyone else other than Kris Cannon and Jason Santiago."

Cannon broke the existing record of 2,053 yards set by Corey Charles in 1996 with a

PRCC soccer team sweeps

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II

The Pearl River Community College men's and women's soccer teams were both big winners over Copiah-Lincoln in soccer action in Poplarville on Tuesday, September 14.

The men's team downed the Wolves 6-1 while the women earned their first victory as a team with a 10-0 shutout. The game was also the South Division opener for both teams.

Jeff Rose of Bay St. Louis scored three goals in the game to lead PRCC. Nick Caldwell, also of Bay St. Louis, added one goal in the win.

On the women's side, Amanda Kingston of Bay St. Louis led the Lady Wildcats with three goals. Lindsey Piazza of Waveland added a goal in the school's first win.

The men improve to 2-1-1 overall and 1-0 in division play. The women up their record to 1-2-1 overall and 1-0 in division play.

Long Beach edges Hancock

The Hancock Lady Hawks lost a close contest to the visiting Long Beach Lady Bearcats, 12-15, 15-11 and 12-15, Thursday night in high school volleyball.

Amanda garnet Was high scorer for Hancock.

In the junior varsity contest, Long Beach won 15-3 and 15-12. Brittany Peterson was high scorer for the Lady Hawks.

130-yard performance. Cannon's totals are now 2,057 yards. Charles currently plays running back for Grambling University in Louisiana.

Santiago passed for 259 yards in the Rocks win. The total gives him 2,442 yards in his career which moved him to second overall on the career passing list at SSC. He passed Bill Dreher who quarterbacked the Rocks to a state playoff berth in 1991. Dreher's totals were 2,108 yards.

Santiago talked about his jump up the ladder toward all-time leader Cedric Smith, "It feels great to be mentioned with one of the greatest quarterbacks in SSC history. To play like Cedric Smith is just a great honor. Since I have been here, that is all I have heard about. Now, I actually have a chance to break his record. But, all the credit goes to the offensive line. I can't make the pass without them. The blocking has been tremendous. My receiving corps of Brandon Rayborn, Aaron Dunklin, Grady Willis, and Stephen Peterman make the tough grabs that make me look good. I'm just one piece in the puzzle. The record is really a team effort."

Senior offensive tackle and three-year starter, Willie Golden, talks about the performance of the line, "We give all the credit to Coach Mike Stumpf. He is very disciplined in practice and it carries over into the game. Jason Santiago and Kris Cannon are both very good players, and I just wish that I would be here another year to block for them. Jason Santiago and Kris Cannon have so much more that they can do. It is just an honor to have blocked for them. Hancock will be a very tough game for us. We have to move forward and not regress. If we play our best, things will work out."

Coach Dave Kenson commented on his team's effort, "Offensively, we made some big plays. But, we still need to cut-out some of the mistakes. A good thing that I see is that all eleven players are contributing on the field. Defensively, we played some good football. The players kept Ray Morris Barnes in check and really didn't give up any points. Next week will be a definite battle against Hancock. It is a very pivotal usual good game. He made some good decisions."

Jr. Rocks squeak by Biloxi

The Tigers are 3-1 on the season and begin their district schedule on the road at Pearl River Central in Carriere next Friday night. Like recent opponents, Pearl River Central relies on power football.

"They are very similar to Poplarville and Vancleave. They are very well-coached and disciplined. Once again, we'll be facing a strong running game. We've got to stop power football."

ago found Dunklin for a 38-yard scoring pass with 11:52 left to play in the game. Raymond converted on the PAT making the score 28-10.

But, the Warriors still wouldn't roll over. It seemed as though the Warrior offense was like a bad penny. They just show up!

After two halted drives by the Byrne/Dawkins/Frost-led Rock defense, the Warriors connected on a 39-yard scoring pass from Greg Thompson to Lonnie Fountain with 3:22 left to play in the game. Bressler converted on the PAT and the score was 28-17.

The Rocks turned the ball over to the junior varsity offense for the remaining time. The JV offense was led by Sean Benoit who carried the pigskin nine times for 52 yards as the Rocks claimed the victory.

Cannon carried the ball 11 times for 130 yards and one score, while Santiago passed 259 yards on 12 out of 22 passes and three touchdowns. Grady Willis had six catches for 75 yards. Dunklin hauled in four catches for 94 yards and two scores. Rayborn tallied two catches for 90 yards and one score.

Byrne led the defense with 16 tackles while Joe Bruno added 10 stops.

The Rocks will open their Division 7-4A schedule on Friday, September 24, 'in between the walls', against the Hawks of Hancock. The cross-county matchup will start at 7:30pm.

The Rocks and the Warriors traded possessions for the remainder of the half, but not before the Rocks put some more excitement in the game. With 2:07 left to play in the half, Santiago found Dunklin for what appeared to be a 68-yard score. However, the play was called back due to a holding penalty. So, the half ended with SSC leading 14-3.

SSC forced the Warriors to punt the ball away to the Rocks on their first two possessions of the second half. Michael Tibodeaux, Matt Frost, and Cameron Byrne threw Warrior running back Torey Staten for a two-yard loss to make the Warriors punt away on their second possession.

On the next play, the Rocks added another score when Cannon galloped 78 yards for the touchdown with 3:49 left to play in the third quarter. Raymond connected on the PAT giving the Rocks a 21-3 lead.

But, that didn't mean the Warriors were going to give up. d'Iberville's Jarod Carter returned the ensuing kickoff 95 yards for the score. Bressler connected on the PAT and made the score 21-10 with 3:33 left in the third quarter.

The Rocks mounted an eight-play scoring drive on their next possession. Cannon carries the ball three times for the Rocks on the drive for 21 yards. Santiago hooked up with Willis on two passes to bring the ball down to the Warrior 38 yardline. There, Santi-

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Submitted by Craig Foster
Edward Jones Co.

Someone once asked Albert Einstein what was the most amazing discovery he had ever encountered. Without hesitation, he replied, "Compound interest."

Of course, you don't have to be a scientific genius to appreciate the "miracle" of compounding. The ability of money to grow over time has benefited anyone who has ever saved for a goal.

Let's see how compounding works. Suppose you put $100 in an investment that earns a fixed 10 percent rate of interest. At the end of the first year, you will have $110. After two years, you will have $121. The extra dollar, which was earned on the $10 interest from the first year, is the compounded interest. (This example shows interest compounded annually; interest can also be compounded daily, quarterly or semiannually.)

Earning compound interest is obviously a good thing, but it won't help you escape the tax man. In the above example, you would pay $3.71 in taxes on your $10 interest the first year, $7.79 on your $21 interest the second year, and so on, assuming you had a combined state and federal tax rate of 37.1 percent. If you withdrew this amount each year to pay taxes, you would be left with considerably fewer dollars to compound.

What's the alternative? You might want to put the same amount of money in a tax-deferred investment, such as an annuity. With a tax-deferred vehicle, you pay no taxes on your earnings until withdrawal. By investing in an annuity or other tax-deferred product, you can benefit from "triple compounding." First, you'll earn interest on your principal. Second, you'll earn interest on your earnings. And third, you'll earn interest on money that would normally have been lost to taxes.

Over time, the benefits of triple compounding can add up. Suppose, for example, that you invest $50,000 in an annuity that earns 8 percent each year. After 30 years, your initial $50,000 investment will have grown to $503,133. Conversely, if you had put the same $50,000 in an investment on which you paid taxes every year, your money would only have grown to $218,082 after 30 years, assuming an 8 percent annual rate of return and a combined state and federal tax rate of 37.1 percent.

You will eventually have to pay taxes on your earnings when you start making withdrawals. However, by that time, you may be retired and in a lower tax bracket. Or you may be able to structure your annuity payouts in a way that will reduce your tax burden. Even if you took your annuity as a lump sum, you would end up with an after-tax amount of $335,020 after 30 years—nearly $117,000 more than you would have accumulated on an investment that wasn't tax-deferred.

Before you purchase any annuity, you will want to make sure the issuer, typically an insurance company, has earned high ratings for safety and financial management. But once you choose a high-quality annuity, you'll be harnessing the power of compounding—in triplicate.

City plans to renovate Coleman Avenue Park

In an effort to enhance the quality of life for local children and families, the City of Waveland has plans to renovate the Coleman Avenue Playground and Park.

As our community continues to grow, the need to preserve our recreational areas and green spaces is one we can no longer afford to overlook.

The project will include renovations to the park and the purchase of new, safe playground equipment that is accessible to children in wheelchairs.

The City of Waveland has provided the initial funds and labor to renovate the park. However, it is anticipated that the complete renovation will cost approximately $35,000.

Therefore, the support of individuals and businesses to help fund the cost of this project is greatly needed.

If you or your business can assist with this effort, please contact Nancy Artigues. Artigues has been designated by the City of Waveland to raise the funds for the Coleman Avenue Park Project. The City of Waveland has set up a designated account for the project. Donors will be recognized at the park.

Donations should be made to "City of Waveland" c/o Nancy Artigues, 111 Seabrook Drive, Waveland, MS 39576.

For additional information, contact Artigues at 466-9375.

AARP Tax-Aide is looking for volunteers for 2000

AARP Tax-Aide is looking for volunteers to help others complete their federal and state income tax forms in 2000. This is a free community service program sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

"Can you balance your checkbook? That's been a good indicator for whether volunteers can become an AARP Tax-Aide counselor," said Dr. Troy Daniel of Starkville, AARP Missisissippi Tax-Aide state coordinator.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer can receive information by calling the Mississippi Tax-Aide toll-free information number at 1-800-338-3167.

The program is administered by the AARP Foundation in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Using materials developed and supplied by the IRS, volunteers receive anywhere from three to five days of training, which prepares them for a high-quality job of helping people with their tax returns.

This year, AARP volunteers assisted more than 10,000 Mississippians, including preparing more than 9,000 federal and/or state returns.

Nationally, AARP Tax-Aide volunteers helped over 1.6 million taxpayers this year. It is the largest organization for people age 50 and older in the United States.

Threats -- four students suspended

four were suspended and barred from returning to the school or any school function until further notice. The parents of the two boys who had been threatened were warned, he said.

Stasny said there was no indication that the threats were directed against the two students because of any specific group affiliation, but said there had been a dispute between the students earlier that had apparently not quite been settled.

Griffith said that the board "will most likely opt to follow the most severely-recommended penalty" against the accused if the investigation proves that the threats were real.

"It is not a normal day at Bay High School to say the least," Griffith said, "but we have to return to normalcy."

In the meantime, Stasny said, "We're trying to carry on operations as normally as possible."

And despite the presence of armed guards on campus and a seriously-depleted student population Friday, operations did seem to flow normally at the school. Students participated in a pep rally Friday morning, then showed up in droves for the school's football game Friday night.

Stasny said yesterday there had been no further incidents, and as far as she knew, no further developments in the investigation.

"I just want to stress that, had this (anonymous) student not reported what they heard,"

Favre said at the press conference Friday, "we may have had a disaster today."

Favre praised the unidentified student and his or her parents for having the presence of mind to warn the authorities about the rumors of school violence.

Griffith said tightened security would remain at Bay High until the situation was resolved, with aid from both Bay St. Louis and Waveland police while the school board "aggressively" seeks state funding to enhance the district's existing security.

The board will meet in special session this evening at its offices at 201 Carroll Ave. in Bay St. Louis to discuss its next step in the case in closed, executive session.

added an additional $1.1 billion to the VA budget.

Taylor said the subcommittee chairman U.S. Rep. James Walsh lobbied for him to support the bill during a personal phone call, even though the NASA cut was part of the funding bill that would eventually come out of committee and gain approval of the full house.

"When he asked my support, he (Walsh) assured me that this bill and another funding bill would be lumped together in one omnibus bill in a Senate Committee, and that when it emerged, the funding for NASA would be restored. Congress has two more weeks left in the current session, and it was essential to get the bill out of the House so it could be debated by the Senate," said Taylor.

Although the restored NASA funding is not yet set in concrete, the Washington offices of U.S. Sens. Trent Lott and Thad Cochran heralded the Senate Appropriations Committee's decision, which recommended fully funding NASA's budget for the fiscal year 2000.

Said Lott: "The Senate committee's budget more accurately reflects the needs of this important agency. By restoring these funds, which House members cut, NASA can continue to pursue essential programs and invest in promising facilities like Stennis Space Center, which will continue to play a major role in our nation's space program."

Lott added, "Funding NASA at its requested level ($13.6 billion as compared to $12.7 billion in the House) is an important step toward securing important programs like remote sensing and future propulsion systems. Under the House proposal, both of these programs would have been eliminated, threatening the jobs of several hundred employees at Stennis Space Center."

The $1.5 billion provided for NASA's Commercial Remote Sensing Program will support continued activity at Stennis, NASA's lead center for commercial remote sensing.

Cochran said, in his press release, "The Committee's action will fund NASA's budget at a level necessary to support important rocket engine testing, advance space technology programs and the modernization of facilities, which are all important to the Stennis Space Center."

Since the budget was cut in the House, the Mississippi Congressional delegation has been working with Stennis Director Roy Estes, Partners for Stennis, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and leading state and county officials to lobby in Washington and get the funding for Stennis reinstated.

On Thursday, Dr. Martin Berry of Picayune, who serves as president of Partners for Stennis, reacted to the news of the restoration with cautious optimism.

"We are pleased that the Senate Appropriations Committee chose to restore funds to the $13.6 billion requested level" said Martin.

"That's good news for NASA and Stennis."

Martin said he realized some issues must still be resolved in conference committee. "But, ultimately we are hoping the full funding will emerge, including the money needed to continue the important research and technology work that is going on at Stennis."

Budget -- Bay St. Louis

basic functions of the government such as police and fire protection.

School officials said they were able to ask for a one-mill decrease in the school levy because area growth has increased the tax base. The value of a mill for the school district has increased by $5,000, to $95,000, over the past year, officials said.

The only part of the school budget which the city directly controls is a contribution from Casino Magic. The city diverts a percentage of its gaming revenue to the school system, amounting to about $325,000 annually.

How the school system spends that money is up to the school board. Officials said they originally tried to use gaming revenues for specific special projects, but for the past two years it's gone into the general operating fund.

Council member Tad Black noted that the city has given the schools some $2 million in gaming revenues since 1993, when Casino Magic began operating.

And he urged school officials to consider using any of the revenue available to help cut down on the number of fund-raisers that are held every year.

With three children in public schools, Black said he's overwhelmed with fund raising drives for various school activities.

The city's own budget anticipates $2.5 million in revenues from Casino Magic, and $1.8 million in state shared taxes and grants. Utility rates will remain the same, producing $2.9 million. The five mill city tax levy is estimated to produce some $100,000, and the rest of the city's revenues come from an array of sources.

The budget includes money for 30-cent hourly wage increases, and $600 hikes for salaried employees. That makes two such across-the-board pay increases the city has approved recently.

Big-ticket items in the new Bay St. Louis spending plan include construction of a Fire Department substation and a new well, on a site to be selected in the Blue Meadow Road area; construction of the widening project for Green Meadow/Drinkwater roads; completion of two major drainage upgrade projects, and $100,000 in computer hardware and software.

The budget also includes 11 additional employees, substantial repair and renovations to the Valena C. Jones complex, and new vehicles to replace aging units in the Police Department fleet.

Mayor Eddie Favre said the budget should see completion of major projects that have been in the works for the past several years, including water line upgrades, and construction of part of a new bikeway system.

The city is opting to build a new fire substation, he said, rather than jam the existing VCJ site with additional facilities that are needed. The substation site has not been finalized, he said, but probably will be across Blue Meadow from high school.

Discussion of what money the city will allocate to outside groups took up considerable time during council's workshop on the budget Monday night. Last year, the city budgeted $50,000 for that purpose, but only spent $32,500.

Council members agreed to set aside $32,500 for "other" spending in the new budget, which could cover the same spending levels as last year: Hope Haven, $20,000; Hancock 2000, $2,000; Hancock County Historical Society, $3,000. Save Our Children, $5,000, and Mississippi Women's Center, $2,500.

Favre had suggested a $66,000 "other" category for the coming year, to give council the discretion later in meeting additional requests.

There were several new requests in the lineup, including donations sought by the Boy Scouts, Soil and Water Conservation, and the South

Mississippi Aids Task Force. In addition, there were hikes requested by some of the agencies which received city funding last year.

While council members said they might consider additional requests during the year, they were not going to set aside an undesignated pool of money to give to outside agencies. Instead, council shifted the difference to drainage improvements.

"We've got a lot of bills facing us," said council member James Thrifflay. While it's "nice to be philanthropic," he said, "I'll be honest with you -- I don't want to encourage people to come knocking on the door."

Council president Carleen Moran and council member Tad Black indicated they may support some funding for the Aids Task Force, but no money was set aside for that group specifically. Moran complained that council doesn't see audited financial reports from the groups that the city supports.

NOTICE TO ALL WATER AND GAS CUSTOMERS

The City will be starting a new billing procedure beginning September 15th, 1999. One half of the customers will be billed on the 15th of each month and the other half at the end of the month, which is the normal billing cycle.

In order to divide the city in half, everyone living on the south side of the railroad tracks will receive a bill on the 15th of each month starting September 15th and the other half of the people living on the north side of the tracks will continue to receive, their bill at the end of each month as they have in the past. Those customers living on the south side will receive one bill from September 1st through September the 15th. After they receive their September 15th bill, all of those residing on the south side of the tracks will continue to receive a monthly bill on the 15th of each month.

The overall purpose of this procedural change is to save time in the field, provide city services every week and split the office workload in two different segments.

have been qualified to run so far, including William "Bill" Taylor, Russell "Ree" Elliott, and Doug Seal. Elliott is a member of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission. Seal is a brother-in-law of council President Carleen Moran.

Meanwhile, other would-be candidates are gathering the required 50 signatures from registered voters to make it into the ballot lineup.

The at-large seat on council, selected by citywide vote, became vacant with the Sept. 7 death of James J. Rutherford, who had two years remaining in office.

If no candidate receives a majority of votes cast Oct. 12, a runoff will be held Oct. 19 between the two candidates receiving the most votes.

Should a tie occur for second place in the election, the runoff would include the top three vote getters, officials say.

Waveland author wonders, 'Whose gulls are these?'

Editor's note: Among the items being placed in the time capsule in the new Tercenary Park is a copy of a book, Views From a Front Porch, by Paul Estronza La Violette of Waveland.

The column will be a regular Sunday feature and will present personal anecdotes of the life, he and his wife, Stella, have led living in a beach house in Waveland for the past 25 years. Although the column will be anecdotal, its aim will be to mirror the general ambience of the living we all enjoy on the Mississippi Coast, especially in Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

Yesterday, as I was sitting on the porch, I caught momentary glimpses through the oak's branches of seagulls drifting swiftly by, riding a strong wind that carried them rapidly to the west. Their wings held gracefully out, unmoving except for slight angle shifts, they went swiftly by, wave after wave of silent ghosts, sometimes in ones and twos, sometimes in fives and tens.

There is a very large flock of noisy gulls that normally moves

VIEWS FROM A FRONT PORCH

By Paul Estronza LaViolette

about our immediate stretch of beach. If these birds were of that flock, they were being blown out of our area.

Today, however, I see a large flock of seagulls sitting on the beach along the water's edge hunched up faced into a driving rain. Are these the same birds? If so, how did they get back? This flock seems larger. Is there a beach somewhere to our east that is missing its birds?

A strong wind has been blowing from the east since yesterday. A tropical storm is forming some 300 miles to our southwest in the Gulf and the wind and rain and squalls from the broad feeder bands have been pelting us since this morning.

The water is at high tide and a beat-up crab pot, its float still attached, has washed up to join the other debris of the long wrack line on the beach. The sky on the horizon is a dark, almost black, blue. Heavier rain will be here in another twenty or thirty minutes.

And here these gulls sit, hunched down, facing the rain and wind. Who are they? Can a gull from another town, say, Pass Christian, tell a Pass Christian beach from our Waveland beach? And if they can, why would they care? Our beach, to me, looks much like the beach over in the Pass. But then, I can't even tell whose gulls these are -- theirs or ours. So maybe I'm not one to judge. Just as long as the birds keep track, and it appears they do.

The rain is starting to fall a lot, heavier, and the wind has picked up a bit. There are some mutterings of thunder in the distance, and Jennie, our Weimaraner, stirs at my feet under my desk. The dog is afraid of thunder. Her tail's been docked a little on the long side, and I hear it thump nervously against the side of the desk.

Through the window, I can see some frigatebirds affixed to the wind in the sky above me. It takes a storm such as this for us to see these birds with their eight-foot-long, angled wings and scissors-like tails. They normally stay offshore, south of the barrier islands and marsh, and are only blown over us by winds such as this.

Now I see four of them soaring in a scattered grouping overhead. One glides slowly by the house, very low -- if I were on the porch, I could hit it with a stone. Now, it's gone. Another hovers for several minutes in one place like a large kite, then breaking off, drops into a racing sideways slip across the sky, then recovers and resumes its hold on a new buffer of wind.

These large birds will soar over us for a day or two and then be gone, not to be seen for a year or two, and then always in company with a strong storm from the south.

To them, like the gulls, storms are part of their normal lives, but unlike the gulls huddled on the beach, the frigates stay aloft, riding the gale winds.

These great soarers live by the wind, playing on these currents of air to take them where they want to go.

I have been a mariner all my life and I have seen them and other such birds far out at sea, feeding and moving about the sea surfaces, equally at home in rough storms or in fair weather.

But not all birds at sea are as comfortable with the winds and storms.

Continental storms often push land birds way out to sea, where they die exhausted, unable to return to land.

I have seen many such birds far out in the Atlantic after a strong front has moved off the eastern seaboard.

Exhausted, the birds rest on the ship, the only "land" for hundreds of miles.

They stay a few days, then get blown away again by the winds to perish in the ship's wake.

While this is not a nice side of nature, it is the reason we find land birds on islands in mid-ocean and, when you stop and think about it, the rationale for the distribution of Darwin's finches.

Tupelo social work program eyes recruitment

With the accreditation process behind it, the University of Southern Mississippi's Master's of Social Work program in Tupelo is ready to search for students.

The two-year-old program became Northeast Mississippi's only accredited graduate program in Social Work when it was granted accreditation in June by the Council on Social Work Education.

Although no final decision has been made on when the next class will be admitted, Dr. Earlie Washington, director of USM's School of Social Work, said work must begin now to begin finding qualified candidates.

"We know there is a lot of interest in the area," Washington said. "What we have to see, as part of the recruitment process, is how many will actually be accepted into the program."

"We want to make sure in our recruiting efforts to get a very diverse and competent student body, and we need to start now."

There should be no shortage of candidates, since the program fills a glaring need in the northeastern part of Mississippi.

The University of Mississippi and Mississippi State both have accredited Bachelor of Social Work programs, but neither offers a master's degree. As a result, social work professionals in the region were scrambling for a way to earn a graduate degree.

Enter Southern Miss. After a series of meetings led by state Rep. Eloise Scott, USM began offering classes in Tupelo as a pilot program in 1997.

"I think without the program, I would not have any other way to pursue a master's degree," said Angie Futato, a student in the Tupelo program.

Using a combination of on-site instruction and distance learning, the three-year, 60-hour program matches the curriculum model of USM's other part-time Master of Social Work program, on the Gulf Park campus in Long Beach.

Nearly half of the curriculum -- 27 hours -- is taught through interactive video or other distance learning technology. The rest is taught on-site by USM faculty.

For more information on the Master's of Social Work program in Tupelo, call Hannah Boatwright at (662) 690-8070 in Tupelo.

Stennis Visitors Center to close for expansion project

Stennis officials closed the Visitors Center for major expansion and new exhibit construction. The grand reopening is planned for spring 2000.

The completed project will offer 14,000 square feet of interactive exhibits representing NASA, the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command and other Stennis agencies.

Guests can man the controls of a space shuttle cockpit; go onboard a life-size module of the International Space Station or the Navy's battleship of the future; and, experience a motion-simulated mission to Mars, as well as many other exciting exhibits.

A new space-themed restaurant will offer guests a taste of local cuisine.

"The expansion will give the Visitors Center a wider forum for showcasing the work of NASA, the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command, and our other agencies.

It especially emphasizes Stennis Space Center's mission and roles in the new millennium," said Linda Theobald, NASA public affairs specialist.

Since 1984, more than 1.6 million visitors from around the world have come to know Stennis Space Center as NASA's lead center for rocket propulsion testing and commercial remote sensing within the Earth Science Enterprise, through educational and community programs, tours and special events at its Visitors Center.

The Educator Resource Center, co-located inside the Visitors Center, will remain open and continue its fall workshop schedule beginning Sept. 16.

To make reservations, call the NASA Educator Resource Center between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday at 1-800-237-1821 (select option 2).

For information about the John C. Stennis Space Center Visitors Center, 1-800-237-1821 (select option 1) in Mississippi and Louisiana, or (228) 688-2370 or visit the Stennis Space Center Visitors Center Website at www.scc.nasa.gov/public/visitors to see the expansion work in progress.

Project PRINTS graduates 70

Project PRINTS, the early intervention program of the South Mississippi Regional Center, celebrated its fourth graduation ceremony on Thursday, Aug. 5 at the J. Herbert Civic Center, honoring 70 preschool graduates from Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River, George and Stone counties.

Project PRINTS, an acronym for Partnerships for Responsive Intervention Newborn to School, works with children ages birth to three who are diagnosed with a developmental disability.

Generally, students graduate at age three when they transition from other early intervention program to their local school system or Head Start Center. A musical tribute by Patricia Jackson and by the students highlighting the evening. The accomplishments in learning, motor development and social skills of each student were reviewed as each graduate was presented with a diploma.

Project PRINTS, administered by the Department of Mental Health, provides a wide range of services to infants and children who are experiencing delays and to their families. The goal of the program is to minimize these delays and increase the potential for future development.

Research has shown that reaching children at an early age can have positive results in the child's home and in future school settings. The project staff work hand-in-hand with school districts to insure all children are prepared for school and that each child is prepared to achieve his or her potential.

Children enrolled in Project PRINTS may exhibit a delay in physical skills, speech and language abilities, educational developments or a combination of any of these areas. Admission into the program requires a current medical examination and identification of a developmental disability. Following a determination of eligibility for the program, an individualized educational plan is developed for each child based on his or her needs and the needs of the family.

The educational program may be designed to promote cognitive development as well as the development of fine and gross motor skills, communication and self-help or adaptive functioning.

Services through Project PRINTS are provided by 20 staff persons, including certified special education teachers, paraprofessional teaching assistants, psychologist, speech pathologists, parent educators and a social worker. Occupational and physical therapy may be provided on an "as needed" basis.

The staff from Project PRINTS also helps families get information on their child's disability and network with other families who may have similar interests. Information is provided to families individually and family training workshops are held regularly on such topics as behavior management, how to organize and manage your child's educational and medical records, and understanding SSI and Medicaid.

In addition, the child's instructional plan may include therapeutic activities for parents to carry out at home. This allows family members to learn techniques to use at home and provides additional information about their child's skills.

Services through Project PRINTS are free of charge and referrals are confidential. Offices for Project PRINTS are located in Gautier, Gulfport, Lakeshore, Long Beach, Picayune and Woolmarket.

Diamondhead Women's Club

The Diamondhead Women's Club, founded in 1993 by Terri Downie, has begun its seventh fall season Sept. 1.

Its goal of helping worthy causes while having fun has been met each year, although the meeting place has had to be changed several times. The club is now meeting at the new Diamondhead Country Club, where members are seated around large tables. During the meeting, coffee or tea is enjoyed, and a lunch menu is available for those who wish to stay after the meeting.

Sept. 1, President Becky Jordan announced that Mary Anne Ballard is secretary in place of Sally Lindsley, who has resigned. The president told members that the board has chosen three charities to help this year: The Alzheimer's Foundation, Hope Haven and the Christmas in April program, which coordinates with other local organizations to help repair the home of a needy family.

Membership Chairman Pat Morgan said there are 72 paid members at present. Treasurer Doris Gensua reported a balance of $728 as of Aug. 21. The September "Split the Pot with Charity" winner is Terri Downie.

The Women's Club will put on a "Broadway Musical" talent show Friday, Oct. 8 and Saturday, Oct. 9 at the Diamondhead Country Club. Tickets are $5 for children and $10 for adults, and all profits go to charity.

Hancock County AARP

The monthly meeting of the Hancock County AARP Chapter 1114 will be Monday, Sept. 20 at 10 a.m. at the American Legion Post 77 on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Guest will be the Diamondhead Dancers who perform for many civic, religious and community organizations, nursing homes and the Mississippi Welcome Center.

TOPS names new area captain

David Kinabrew of Biloxi has been appointed area captain by TOPS Club, Inc., Milwaukee, Wis., according to MS TOPS coordinator Carolyn Kinabrew. David will serve the counties of Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River, which has nine chapters.

TOPS is a international support weight-loss organization which provides members with fellowship, contests, group therapy and weekly meetings.

Kinabrew joined TOP MS 214 Biloxi April 25, 1985 and has been actively involved in the chapter since serving as leader, co-leader, secretary, weight recorder and presently as treasurer, a position he has held several times.

He represented Mississippi at the international recognition days in Charleston, S.C. in 1989 as being MS TOPS King for his loss of 73 pounds.

Kinabrew's appointment to this position will give him the opportunity to work with others who are interested in losing weight by starting new chapters, following up with contacts who call for information, visiting established chapters in his area, assisting with State Recognition Days held each year in Mississippi and at local quarterly workshops, as well as representing the state at International Recognition Days each year.

Kinabrew invites inquiries about TOPS to be made to 228-388-1916, or call 1-800-932-8677 for information.

Gather Ye Rosebuds

Gather Ye Rosebuds Rose Society is entering into its fifth season and it proves to be their best yet. The board has worked diligently over the summer to insure many excellent events and speakers, two of which will be nationally known authors.

The season traditionally opens with a covered dish on Sunday Sept. 26 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Graham, 10125 Choctaw Drive, Bay St. Louis at 6 p.m.

All members and their guests are invited. Anyone interested in joining the society, or attending this event, should call 467-3008 for information.

TOPS #298 Picayune came in second place for their average of 2.43 pounds, and #397 Waveland placed third with 2.08 pounds per member.

TOPS MS #201 Helena hosted the quarterly workshop with the theme of "Field of Dreams." Chapters designed pennants with the theme and were presented participation ribbons.

Guest speaker was Leonard Slade of Pearl, who spoke on building anything from the base up with cooperation, proper materials and involvement of everyone.

Retiring area captain, Anna Reece, was recognized and presented gifts from the Coast TOPS chapters.

New area captain, David Kinabrew, was introduced by Becky Whitefield. Kinabrew will serve the counties of Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River.

Next workshop will be Nov. 11 at Christ United Methodist Church in Long Beach. TOPS chapters meet weekly in many locations on the Coast and individuals are welcome to visit a free meeting or call for information at 388-1916 or 475-2517.

With a specialist handling each step of the transaction, you get the service and communication you deserve. The fact of the matter is Charlotte's team does not replace her, it just enhances her. Alison Robertson

...Puts Customers First! Alison Robertson joined RE/MAX Southern Shores in Bay St. Louis in July of 1997 as a newly licensed real estate agent.

Alison quickly ascended to become a very productive real estate agent because she lives by the motto motivational speaker Zig Ziglar made popular which is, "To get everything YOU want in life, just help SOMEONE ELSE get what THEY want!" "I believe this," Alison said "and I further believe that the real estate business is a business of service. If your immediate goal is to make money and NOT concentrate on helping someone else get what they want, you will not be in business for very long."

Alison, in just two short years is approaching over 50 closed real estate sales in an industry where the average per agent is only 7. This is remarkable and is attributed to her desire to not only pursue her real estate education by attending RE/MAX Conventions and Rallies and real estate classes by also "putting the customer first!"

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

"Are you excited? has a constant refrain during the past month. Parishioners and others who knew about it all want to know whether my adrenaline is moving toward fever pitch as I prepare to leave for Atlantic City and Germany.

Oddly, until all the questioning began, I had not briefed myself on the state of my constitution and condition. Frankly, I was confused at first by the question. I soon came to understand I was confused simply I was not excited.

Self-inspection is often not good and at times puts our focus on life in the wrong place. In this case, however, it was most revealing. Why was I not excited, though very glad?

My first stop will be Atlantic City, where the Faith Community of St. Monica will share a Mass with me, a homecoming celebration, calling back all those who once attended that church. We will share a healing service during the Mass.

That celebration will take place one day after the feast of St. Augustine, our patron, and two days after the feast of St. Monica, their patron saint and the mother of Augustine.

The Christians of the Faith Community of St. Augustine will be sending their greetings and blessings through me to the Christians of the Faith Community of St. Monica Church.

Excited? No, but very glad.

However, I do expect serious excitement to swoop me up at St. Monica Church in the midst of meeting and greeting them, celebrating their homecoming, and exulting throughout the healing, praying and singing.

Then the wonder of flight will whisk me to Germany, where I will linger in Pforzheim. On July 7, 1997, I led the celebration of a Gospel Mass in Pforzheim, rejoicing, praying and preaching in my rudimentary German.

We were supported in our Gospel Mass by the inspiring 40-voice choir of Karlsruhe. Two very different cultures, the German and African-American, blended very well into a great statement of celebration, joy, blessing and exuberance.

The beloved Germans and I will do a repeat, and I anticipate every bit as wonderful a celebration as the last time when we had over 800 people under a huge tent. The liturgical blend of cultures is exhilarating, marvelous.

The Germans nurture a deep, abiding interest in and liking for the Negro Spirituals and the offshoots of the Spirituals: gospel music, blues and jazz. I, in my turn, find their music and culture engaging and fascinating.

Ever since my first exposure to the Germans three times between 1957 and 1961 while I pursued studies in Rome, I have kept a cherished spot in my heart for them and their culture.

It's a great tradeoff and a sharing to which I definitely look forward. And yet, excited? No, but thrilled and very happy to be going there and doing that with them.

Just as in the case of St. Monica in Atlantic City, I am certain that the big excitement will consume me once we get our Gospel celebration underway and move into our singing, praying preaching and healing outreach.

Are you excited?

Why am I not excited until I get into the midst of celebrations? I am just coming to grips with that. It would seem that, when we are young, life is a series of raging raids and waterfalls. Excitement is either actual or pursued.

As we age, life is a river with surprise rapids or falls.

Put A Little Fun In Your Life

A woman friend, in her middle thirties, was recently telling us that she had just joined the YWCA and that she was exercising and playing basketball. She said that she felt like she was twelve years old again, and it was quite nostalgic for her because she has not been involved in activities like these since she was a young girl.

Of course, as we grow older, we have work and other commitments that we are involved in; but, every so often it is nice to take a day off and do something fun, and perhaps, a little bit different, like a game of basketball, or kickball. I believe that God wants us to stay young at heart, and like the late George Burns once said, "It's okay to grow older, just don't get old."

Fun things bring us enjoyment, and God wants us to be joyful, happy, and content. Those who love the Lord and take delight in their lives are a reflection of God's love.

This is the day which the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad in it.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Covenant love

Covenants are solemn binding agreements. Pieces of property are often bound by covenants that permit or disallow certain activities. The Bible speaks of God's covenant. God permits and disallows certain activity in His world.

God's Covenant has privileges. "I will make My dwelling among you, and My soul will not reject you. I will also walk among you and be your God, and you shall be My people" (Leviticus 26:11-12). Heaven fulfills this covenant. "I heard a loud voice from the throne, saying, 'Behold, the tabernacle of God is among men, and He will dwell among them, and they shall be His people, and God Himself will be among them'" (Revelation 21:3).

God's Covenant has requirements. Moses said to the people regarding God, "He declared to you His covenant which He commanded you to perform, that is, the Ten Commandments; and He wrote them on two tablets of stone" (Deuteronomy 4:13). God extended this covenant to His New Testament people. God promised, "I will put My law within them and on their heart I will write it; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people" (Jeremiah 31:33).

You live in covenant with God when you love Him and keep His commandments. "This is the love of God, that we keep His commandments; and His commandments are not burdensome" (1 John 5:3).

Pines Christian Youth Group

The Lutheran Church of the Pines Youth Group has been busy in the mission field both locally and abroad. Recently they purchased and delivered a van full of school supplies to the Bethlehem Children's Treatment Center in New Orleans.

The group also sent money to an Albanian family to help them rebuild after their home was destroyed. They have given Thanksgiving baskets for needy families in the community and helped sponsor an Easter egg hunt for underprivileged children.

Their mission work is made possible through fund raisers and youth work efforts throughout the year.

The Lutheran Brotherhood Northshore Branch 8634 has also helped their mission efforts with matching funds. The youth group is now taking orders for God's Creation Calendar Year 2000 Collector's edition. Cost is $6. Call 467-7164 to reserve a copy.

The Sunday School service is at 9:15 a.m. followed by church at 10:30 a.m. All are welcome. The church is located in Waveland on Hwy. 90 across from McDonald's Restaurant.
